Announcements & Event Reminders

We would like to wish everyone a restful half term break.

Next half term's topic is all about the changes in British society which occurred in the 1960's. In science we will be covering electricity.

There will be class assemblies for 4AW and 4LM, and we are also planning a day out in connection with our 1960's topic—further details will follow.

We have not sent out homework this week, but would like to draw your attention to the fortnightly topic task, which the children may wish to do.

Swimming

This continues as normal until further notice.

English & Maths

After the break we will be starting our work on stories with dilemmas, focusing on grammar and story structure.

In maths we will be completing our work on the four rules of number.

Fortnightly Topic Task

Our next topic homework relates to our forthcoming Global Day which takes place in November. We are simply looking for ideas as to what concerns the children the most in the modern world, or what they think is going really well. If the children could find some interesting facts about the subject that concerns them, and bring these in, that would be perfect. The only condition is that it must be about something that affects CHILDREN globally. The deadline for this is now Friday of the FIRST WEEK BACK.
