Maths

We will complete our unit on statistics by making, drawing and interpreting block graphs. We will then be moving onto 2D and 3D shapes. Can we recognise them in the everyday environment? We will make a tally chart to record how many different shapes we see around us and will also be counting sides on 2D shapes. What is a side? How can you check you have counted all sides? Do all four sided shapes look the same? Why do you think shapes have the names that they do?
