Revolting Rhymes

Have you read Roald Dahl's Revolting Rhymes? Listen to his version of the Three Little Pigs here:
penetwork.co.uk/revolting-rhymes

Talk about how you can tell the same story in lots of different ways. Can you write or draw your own version of the Three Little Pigs?

How are you helping?

- Finding time to share a book will help your child become interested in reading.
- It's good for children to make things and be creative.
- Retelling stories helps to develop children's language.

Houses

Have a go at making houses for the little pigs out of empty cereal packets, building bricks, newspapers or straws.

Pretend to be the greedy wolf and say "I'll huff and I'll puff and I'll blow your house down!"
Can the wolf blow any of the houses down?

Pigs Fly

Play the "Pigs Fly" game.

The leader faces the group and calls out "Ducks Fly!" "Owls Fly!" "Pigs Fly!" and so on.

When an animal is named which can fly, the children flap their arms. When an animal which doesn't fly is named, they shouldn't flap their arms. Anyone who does is out!
