

Factors which impact on attention and understanding

Children's attention and engagement are influenced by many different factors that each work together. This can include their understanding of language, how they remember what they have heard and their emotions and level of alertness at the time. It can also be impacted by their sensory regulation. When all of these areas are supported, a child is more likely to focus and engage effectively.

